Hyphen Solutions Announces First Live Pilot on Hyphen BidConnect

Top 10 Builder Using Hyphen's Bidding Platform

Addison, TX — September 30, 2009 — Hyphen Solutions announced its first live client piloting the Hyphen BidConnect application to electronically manage their bidding and procurement process. This Top 10 National Builder, also a user of Hyphen's BuildPro and SupplyPro scheduling and supply-chain platform, chose BidConnect because it is integrated into Hyphen's existing technology which allows customers to leverage the communications platform that they already use to manage every house they build.

BidConnect differentiates itself from other solutions that simply allow for the electronic sharing of documents. Bob Swainhart, EVP of Sales and Marketing notes that "BidConnect's strength is that it captures all of the bidding information at the database level. As a result, we are able to very quickly produce spreadsheets and reports that allow for the efficient comparison of bids from the vendor community. Additionally, the information is housed in the same database as the historical scheduling data. Is the vendor who bids lowest costing you days (and money) in cycle time? BidConnect gives you the ability to start making decisions based on total cost vs. low bid."

"The best news about the BidConnect product is how quickly we can implement the solution at a client site. Once we've identified and defined the client's bidding process, we can have the product up and operating in a matter of days," said Aaron Gray, Hyphen's Director of Professional Services.
